TF1 and YouTube have announced an end to a years-long legal dispute about TF1 content that had been uploaded to YouTube by users.

As part of this settlement agreement, YouTube has reaffirmed its commitment to providing its content protection system (Content ID) and to giving right holders full control over their content.

The settlement also includes a partnership to build TF1 YouTube channels, which will include original TF1 content made specially for the platform. TF1 and YouTube are delighted with this new collaboration.
