

In Poland, Bouygues Immobilier is developing the first residential programme with HQE® High Environmental Quality certification in Europe outside France

Issy-les-Moulineaux, 14 April 2015

In the Bemowo district in north-west Warsaw, Bouygues Immobilier is developing Accent Vert and Accent Vert Eco, two buildings that have just been awarded HQE® Very Good certification for the design phase by the certification body Cerway. It is the first residential development with HQE® certification in Europe outside France.

Designed by architect firm Architekci Dawidczyk & Partnerzy, the 292-unit development gives priority to comfort and a pleasant living environment, with a playground for children and green spaces including a vegetable garden and a birdhouse.

Eric Mazoyer, Deputy CEO of Bouygues Immobilier, said: "We are very pleased to obtain the first design-phase HQE® certification for a residential development outside France. It reflects the vigour and quality of our business on international markets, especially in Poland."
