

Bouygues Telecom seals its upcoming arrival on TDF's Public Initiative Networks

Paris, 13 October 2017 - This week Bouygues Telecom and TDF signed a nationwide framework contract enabling Bouygues Telecom to market its offers on all of the fiber optic networks operated by TDF.

For TDF, this contract underlines the validity of its positioning as an impartial and open fiber infrastructure operator, less than one year after entering this market. It also enables a first operator, Bouygues Telecom, to market its FTTH very-high-speed offers in all of the zones covered by TDF's networks.

At the beginning of 2017, TDF was chosen by its first two local authorities, represented by Val d'Oise Numérique and Yvelines Numériques, to connect 200,000 premises in order to provide very-high-speed internet to people living in less densely populated areas.

"Bouygues Telecom and TDF have been partners for many years, particularly in mobile phone coverage," said Yves Legrand, EVP Technical Operations, Bouygues Telecom. "This new contract highlights one of our ambitions in FTTH, namely to be present in all of France's less dense areas, thus enabling Bouygues Telecom to achieve its target of 20 million premises marketed by 2022."

"We're delighted with this new strategic partnership involving Bouygues Telecom in FTTH. TDF enjoys major expertise in building and operating both mobile and fixed networks, which we are able offer telecoms operators to help them speed up the growth of fiber across the whole country," said Olivier Huart, Chairman and CEO of TDF.
